INVOCATION

The Invocation is given by COUNCILWOMAN MARY KAY HARRIS.

"Heavenly Father, we want to be grateful tonight. We want to be grateful for all that You do. We want to be grateful for the opportunity to serve such a great city. Father, we want to be grateful for even the decisions that we have to make some time, even the decisions that are tough and they are decisions that don't always fit everyone, but we are grateful Lord, because we know we have to be overseers of many things in this city. I ask You to bless this week, bless the week to come as we enter into the holy week. Let us be considerate, think about others, have empathy for the poor. Think about people who are sick and ill, people that are being deployed. Different things that are affecting a nation of people, we ask You, Lord, to just look upon us and give us a heartbeat of empathy and sympathy, and Lord, help us as we make decisions for the City of Providence. In Jesus name. Amen."

PERSONAL EXPRESSION

COUNCILWOMAN HARRIS Requests the privilege of the floor to speak on a Point of Personal Expression and states:

"I would like to thank Majority Leader Ryan. It takes a lot sometimes when we have to pull back on something that we are so passionate about, but one of the things I want you to know is that I really appreciate the opportunity for my community to really understand the significance of why it's important for us to dispose of these bags. I want to thank you for your effort to come into our neighborhoods to really listen to the community, listen to the things that were their concern and really carefully do this right. I really appreciate you. This is great, this is the way ordinances and sometimes policy should be changed if it doesn't always fit. We can pull it back and I know we were the first, but one way or the other, other cities seem to be catching up, but we did it right and I appreciate you and appreciate your effort. Also, Councilman Aponte all the work that was put into this and your team that you have, you have an awesome team. You were dragging them around in our communities. With that, I encourage my colleagues as well to support this plastic bag initiative. Thank you."
